St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce Leaves Thursday For Melbourne

There was a fine crowd in attendance at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday. After the usual opening and all were seated, the ode cards were dealing at each plate, and Dr. Landiss led in slinging "Perfect Day." After all had partaken of the good lunch, all sang "Florida the Beautiful," which was composed by Elizabeth R. Mitchell, and sung to the tune "America the Beautiful", while the home made cake and brick ice cream was being served.

The following letter was read from Melbourne Chamber of Commerce, Secretary Joseph Masch. "I am in receipt of your letter of August 26th accepting our invitation for St. Cloud Day in Melbourne. Thursday, September 16th is acceptable to us for your trip, and I am making arrangements for a golf contest at the Indialtantic Golf Course and making other arrangements to give you folks an enjoyable day at our beaches. Please advise me at your earliest convenience of the time when you expect to leave St. Cloud, so that a representative number of Melbournelites can come out to meet you and escort you into town."

The committee from St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce to make arrangements for this trip are: A. J. Geiger, Mrs. M. P. Foster and Jack Hewitt, and they are anxious to know how many cars from St. Cloud can go to Melbourne and request that each one, who can go report same to any member of the committee, or leave word with Mrs. Foster at the Tribune office.

President Landiss announced the Labor day program, assuring all a worth-while time.

Secretary Kelsey reported for the golf committee that land owned by Leon D. Lamb had been selected, and that Mr Trickle had gone over the course and the out-look for a real golf course in the next few weeks is fine.

The St. Cloud Chamber of Commerce will not enter the organization of Chambers to employ a traffic manager as much of the merchandise used in St. Cloud comes by truck and express.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF WHEAT'S TOGGERY

The opening of Wheat's Toggery in the Hunter building on Saturday was a most gratifying success.

The artistic color scheme of gray and black and the arrangement of the merchandise make this one of the most attractive stores in the city.

Two thousand candle power light in front of the store brought out the attractively arranged window display. This was the center of much favorable comment.

St. Cloud is justly proud of this splendid new store which is a real asset to our city.

MASTER MASON SINCE 1863

L. L. Kibbe, of this city, was made a Master Mason in 1863. He has been in good standing ever since.

The program will be held in the community club house and the whole park will be used for the accommodation of the large crowd that is expected to attend.

The committee is leaving nothing undone to provide amusements for the home folks and visitors, and an abundance of good things to eat and cold drinks will be on sale. The entire program is given elsewhere in these columns.

The Parent-Teacher Association is sponsoring the day's program, which will end up with a cafeteria supper served by the ladies of the association, the funds derived to be used for the purchase of playground equipment for the local school grounds. The cause is a worthy one and should have the patronage and support of every citizen.

St. Cloud Citizens Are Urged To Support Proposed Golf Course Plan

Last week the desirability of a golf course in St. Cloud was discussed, and at the risk of repetition the subject will be touched on again in this article. Golf does not mean that a favored few will have a new sport to play with. It does not mean just an added method of spending. Golf, on the contrary, means a way of making money, in that it brings people to the city, who otherwise would not come here, and, who once here, can not help but be impressed with the city and its beauties and opportunities. And those, who stop to play often, remain to buy and become members of the city. Golf is a town is a real live cashable asset.

Let us consider the cost of a golf course in St. Cloud. It is a fine thing to have assets, but what will be the measure of the cost is always an important question. Let us say, once and for all, that there is no attempt or thought of building a so-called championship course or an elaborate club house. The course thanks to the plans that have been formulated, will not start out with an overwhelming bonded debt, the interest on which alone would eat up all the earning powers of the club. No land will be bought, but the club will lease its property for a nominal amount, a provision has been made that the club will at all times have an option to buy the land in case it seems advisable to do so at a later date. Next as to the course itself. The land selected lends itself to an inexpensive construction. No great amount of draining will be necessary, no large sums spent in erecting artificial hazards. Nature has provided for all this, and furthermore she has given a turf that will furthermore but a very small outlay to make one of the finest playing courses in central Florida. The putting greens will have to be built in entirety, but outside of them, will be but little work required on the fairways.

Actual, not theoretical figures have been compiled by those interested as to the cost of equipment, of construction, of fertilizer and grass seed cost, and of labor. These figures have been checked and rechecked until there is no further room for doubt. Those having the matter in charge know almost to the last cent, and through out all their deliberations they have been governed by what the town can afford to support and to maintain.

The construction cost is not a prohibitive one, and a membership stock holder in the club will prove a paying venture whether one is actually interested in playing or not. The annual dues are small in comparison with most similar clubs, being at the rate of five dollars a month, sixty dollars a year, for a family membership which gives the playing privilege to all members of the immediate family. It is in the winter income from greens fees that no small part of the upkeep cost will come. One links, not so many miles from this city, and yet too far away to be readily accessible, brings in a yearly income of more than six thousand dollars from this item alone, enough to pay all the operating expenses. There is no reason why the St. Cloud Club cannot do likewise.

With the support of the people of this city the new asset of a good golf course will be a reality in less than three months time.

WILL YOU BE THE ONE TO FORCE RECEIVERSHIP?

The Tribune has received information from reliable sources that the Bank of Saint Cloud, which recently closed its doors, will re-open on the fifteenth or twentieth of this month, provided that a half dozen depositors "sign-up" the agreements according to the plan worked out by the Depositors Committee.

The sooner the bank opens its door the sooner conditions will get back to normal; should it be forced into a receivership, it will be years before we recover.

The decision rests in the hands of a few persons, and it is hoped that they will immediately 'sign up." The time is getting short. Have you done your part?

NON-PARTISAN ORGANIZATION SELECT CANDIDATES

At a meeting of the Non-Partisan Organization, held in St. Cloud at the law office of Parker & Parker, on Tenth street, August 20th, Colvin Parker, chairman, stated the purpose of the meeting.

Following this the minutes were read by Secretary F. H. Stroup, and were approved as was the report of the finance committee.

The steering committee composed of M. I. Dow, C. N. McMullen, and C. H. Funk reported the selection of Colvin Parker as representative, and as commissioners, Peter Tomasello, from district number five, of Kenansville, F. W. Ames, district number one, and O. R. Bleech, from St. Cloud, and recommended that H. O. Partin and Nathan Bryan be endorsed. The recommendations of the committee were unanimously accepted.

The secretary then read the platform upon which these candidates are to run, which was adopted as a whole.

The petitions of the candidates were to be circulated for signatures and to be filed at the proper time. The circulating committee were Messrs C. H. Funk, Earl Frank, John Pherigo and C. N. McMullen.

There are to be three recommendations from each precinct, one of which will be chosen as clerk or inspector at the polls.

The next meeting of the organization will be held at the office of M. I. Dow at No. 7 Darlington avenue, Kissimmee, Thursday afternoon, September 16th at 2:30.

ANNUAL I.O.O.F. PICNIC AT ALLIGATOR LAKE THURSDAY

Announcement is made this week that a big barbecue picnic will be held at Mrs. Geo. Saunder's place on Alligator Lake next Thursday, Sept. 9th, by the local Fellow and Rebekah Lodges of St. Cloud and Kissimmee, and all members of these fraternities are invited to be present and enjoy this occasion.

Those who have attended these affairs before will need no second invitation to be present, for they are all aware of the good things to eat that will be provided, and of a good time in general.

The committee states that barbecue meat, bread and coffee will be served free. Those who desire to do so, can bring basket lunches to fill out the rest of the picnic menu. And, of course, bathing suits will be a necessary part of the equipment to really enjoy the day so bring yours along.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY TO THOMAS HOLLAND

Thomas Holland, a millwright, of Wilmington, Del., who has been working on the rebuilding the mill at Holopaw for the Griffin Lumber Co., and had just completed his work there, died suddenly from a stroke of apoplexy Friday evening. MASONS HAD A BIG MEETING LAST FRIDAY

The local Masonic lodge had one of the most successful meetings in the history of that lodge last Friday evening, when a class of six candidates received the Master Mason's degree. The attendance at that occasion was one of the largest that has been present at the lodge in a long time, and the officers of the lodge were highly pleased with the fraternal spirit that existed.

District Deputy Grand Master Leonard S. Thornton, of Orlando, presided at the conferring of the degrees, and visitors were present from Orlando and Kissimmee lodges, as well as many visiting members of the fraternity who are stopping in St. Cloud.

After the degree work, Past Master Sam Brammar delivered the lecture to the class, which was followed by a banquet at the Hotel St. Cloud Cafe, where plates were laid for eighty-three.

Special music on that occasion was furnished by Mr. Wm. Seabridge, tenor, with Mr J. B. Ellis as accompanist, who also contributed to the entertainment at the cafe.

Much interest has been manifested in Masonic circles the past year, and the membership has grown steadily, and it promises to be one of the lodge's best years when viewed from the increase in membership.

MUCH ENCOURAGEMENT GIVEN AT REALTORS MEETING

The real optimism and encouragement given out at the meeting of the St. Cloud realtors board held at the St. Cloud Cafe on Friday as well as the food itself were both life giving and healthful.

H. A. Haymaker reported the sale during the past week of 10 acres to W. I. Barker.

The fact that the golf course now seems an assured fact, brought out the fact that many good citizens have left and have not invested in St. Cloud, because we did not have a golf course.

BAPTIST NOTES

August is supposed to be the hardest month for church work on account of so many people being away on their vacation, nevertheless we had 216 out for Sunday school last Sunday morning. There were 71 present at the Whosoever-Will Bible class taught by the pastor, and 78 present at Philathea Barnes class taught by Mr. R. R. Steinwinder. This is the high water mark for the Young Peoples class and is the result of a friendly contest that has been going on for some time between the young men and the young ladies.

Brother Steinwinder with a number of the members of his class will have charge of the evening service at Holopaw next Sunday evening.

The pastor is now taking up the Book of Acts for study at the mid-week prayer service, and the lesson for next Wednesday evening is the fourth chapter.

Mrs. Cranston, Mrs. Spencer and Mrs. Gillette are still on the sick list.

The pastor was called to preach the funeral service of Grandma Whaley last Saturday morning. Mrs. Whaley was among the early settlers in this part of the state and was 86 years of age at the time of her death, having been a member of the Baptist church for about 30 years, and leaves a great number of relatives in the community to mourn her loss.

On Monday we were called to conduct the funeral service of the little baby of Brother and Sister J. E. Campbell. The child was only about six weeks old. The pastor and members of church extends their sympathy to both of these bereaved families and again we have been impressed with the lesson that the old must die and the young also may die.

Next Sunday morning is the regular and next Monday evening the time time for observing the Lord's Supper for the regular business of the church. It is the desire of many that both of these services will be well attended.

The Union service will be held at the Methodist Episcopal church at 8 o'clock next Sunday evening.

Mothers with little children, who have been kept away from public worship on the Lord's day, are now most cordially invited to come and bring the children as we have set aside one room in the church as a nursery. Mrs. Geo. Kaufman has kindly consented to give up the morning service that she might look after this very important work, and it is hoped that many more of the mothers will now attend the morning service as there can be no excuse now on account of the children, for they will be well taken care of by this department of the church. Don't forget the Sunday school next Sunday morning at 9:30.

Every member of the church as well as others ought to be members of the Sunday school, and there get a better knowledge of the Bible and what it means to us individually.

Okeechobee Passes Resolution For Election To Authorize Road Bonds

The Directors of the Okeechobee Chamber of Commerce at a regular meeting Tuesday afternoon, August 24th, after considerable discussion relating to the merits of State Road No. 29 from that city to the Osceola County line decided unanimously that this highway was "Okeechobee County's greatest need at the present. The Directors were of the opinion that the only method by which this road could be procured would be through a county bond issue; and the members present unanimously adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, We recognize the fact that the building of State Road No. 29 from Okeechobee north is the most important thing before the people of this community today, and

Whereas, the County of Osceola on the north of us has bonded itself for sufficient money to construct said State Road No. 29 from the south Osceola County line to its intersection with State Road No. 24, and erection of said road in that county thereby making it expedient and practicable for Okeechobee County to connect with Osceola County, and

Whereas, taxes in Okeechobee County have been reduced for the current year to an extent in excess of twenty-five per cent, and

Whereas, the construction of State Road No. 29 would give to Okeechobee an ingress and an outlet which will enhance the value of all property in the county as well as increase appreciably the general business of the community and accelerate development in the north end of the county, and

Whereas, there be only one means by which that part of State Road No. 29 in Okeechobee County can be constructed in the near future; to-wit: a county-wide bond issue in sufficient amount; and

Whereas, the construction of State Road No. 24 from Kissimmee to Melbourne and the construction of the Vero Beach-Tampa Cross-State Highway will become of tremendous value to Okeechobee County by virtue of intersection of State Road No. 29 with them, and State Road No. 29 in turn of value to the communities which those roads serve, and

Whereas, the finances for the construction of State Road No. 29 south in Okeechobee County through Eagle Bay to the Glades County line has been provided, and

Whereas, the County of Glades on the south of us is constructing that part of State Road No. 29 in their county from Kissimmee River to Moore Haven, and

Whereas, the failure to construct State Road No. 29 from Okeechobee to the north county line immediately will negative and to a large extent defeat the purpose of our sister counties, and work to the great detriment and loss of our own; NOW THEREFORE

Be It Resolved, That the Board of Directors of the Okeechobee Chamber of Commerce does hereby endorse and request the speedy construction of State Road No. 29 from the City of Okeechobee north to the county line.

Be It Further Resolved, That the County Commissioners of Okeechobee County be and they are hereby requested and petitioned to call a county-wide bond election submitting to the freeholders of the county the question of whether or not the county shall bond itself in sufficient amount to pay for the construction of said road.

And Be It Further Resolved, That the construction of said road ought and we hereby recommend that it be constructed according to the plans and specifications of the State Road Department of the State of Florida, and under their supervision.

And Be It Further Resolved, That the construction of said road ought and we hereby recommend that it be constructed under and by virtue of contracts of the County Commissioners of Okeechobee County.

And Be It Further Resolved, That the County Commissioners ought and we hereby recommend that they urge the State Road Department through its Chairman to immediately survey and locate said road.

And Be It Further Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the Board of County Commissioners of Okeechobee County; Dr. Fons A. Hathaway, Chairman of the State Road Department; Okeechobee News; Board of County Commissioners of Osceola County; Kissimmee Valley Gazette; St. Cloud Tribune; Board of County Commissioners of Glades County; and the Glades County Democrat.

A Florida Creed

A prize of $100 in gold will be given by the Florida Exposition for the best state creed and the prize will be awarded on Tuesday, Oct. 5, 1926. The contest is open to all parts of the country. No creed should be over 200 words long. Address the Creed Contest, Florida Exposition Company, 402 Consolidated Building, Jacksonville Florida, and a self-addressed envelope should be enclosed.

Our State Debt

For a good many years Florida has had what has been considered a state debt—the general fund borrowed $601,507 from the school fund. According to State Treasurer Lining the general fund in October will transfer enough money to the school fund to pay off our "state debt."

Hunting, Trapping and Fishing

For the fiscal year ending June 30, Commissioner Royall, of the Florida Game and Fresh Water department, issued 62,255 licenses 52,081 for hunting, 5,311 for trapping and 4,721 for fishing. Commercial licenses were issued to eighteen wholesalers 425 retailers, and 528 fishing boats. The total revenue derived from these licenses amounted to $178,392.25 as compared with $55,750.75 for the season of 1923-24, and $54,198.28 for 1924-25.

A Fortunate State

According to the Hollywood News: "Florida is the most fortunate state in the union, bless with rich natural resources, climate and soil, water and sunshine, a vast domain of wilderness and wild life, magnificent cities, delightful towns and prosperous countryside, but greater than all of these are its forward-going citizens. They will not stop. They break barriers away and brush obstacles aside. That is why northern propaganda against Florida blows away as chaff. Within a few years a powerful citizenship will have completed building projects the country has ever known."

BUILDING SPLENDID HOME

One of the finest appearing homes being built at this time is that of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kotz, who recently came here with their daughter, Miss Alma, from Fostoria, Ohio. This is a two-story modern home being built on the attractive lots on the corner of Wisconsin avenue and Twelfth street.

Altoona is another Lake county town that is fast coming into prominence over the development of grape growing and in a couple more years will have enough grapes growing to make car lot shipments from that point. WILD ALLIGATOR ROAMS JACKSON

JACKSON, Aug. 10.—Just to prove that California's got everything Florida has, comes now a wild alligator.

For weeks and months past there have been wild tales of the beast's existence.

Then someone recalled that several years ago, Dr. E. E. Endicott brought a live alligator from somewhere in the South and tried to keep it in an enclosure at his home. One day the alligator was gone.

And now comes actual proof in the stories of a small boy, corroborated by John Going and Webb Smith, superintendent of the Kennedy mine.

The small boy, teeth chattering from fright, flung himself into Smith's arms the other day. "I just saw a lizard as long as a redwood tree," he wailed, "down by the tailings reservoir."

Smith summoned re-enforcements in the person of John Going, another mine employe, and armed with rifles and clubs, advanced on the reservoir. They found fresh tracks which had plainly been made by an animal of the general description of an alligator.—San Francisco Examiner.

Barry Pleads His Case

"It's just the sort of day for a tea party!" I exclaimed when I met Barry the following afternoon promptly at five o'clock at the place which he had chosen. It was one of those charming little restaurants which are so popular in New York and whose very atmosphere inspires intimate conversation.

Outside a thin rain had been curing forth a purposeless performance with the results that the street, which I glimpsed through the window, was covered with a scraggly piece of wind-tossed rolling which, against the edges of the buildings, became, in turn, gray blotting paper.

I slipped into the narrow cushioned bench which ran along the wall and he seated himself beside me. The waiter brought tea and an assortment of pastry and then disappeared at a nod from Barry.

"It's so cozy here!" I declared, busying myself with the tea things and remembering to give Barry cream instead of lemon. I spoke admiringly of the potted geraniums, the gay curtains of blue-and-white checked gingham and the brightly decorated tables, which were unoccupied, on account of the inclement weather and the lateness of the hour, most people preferring their tea at four-thirty. For some reason Barry did not respond to my enthusiasm. He wore an absorbed expression and his tea remained untasted.

"I won't offer you the proverbial penny for your thoughts," I continued, "because I know how musicians scorn anything so mundane as money, but I will give you a piece of this delicious French pastry."

"Listen Sallie," began Barry, still unable to enter into a gay humor, "I might as well tell you what's on my mind. I know all about your unhappy situation. I made Ellie tell me. You don't mind my knowing, do you?" he asked, anxiously scanning my face for an answer.

"I hate for you to bother yourself with my troubles," I fended. That Ellie had confided in him only from the kindest motives in my behalf I was certain and yet I disliked him knowing about the events of the past summer.

"My dear, my dear," he was saying, "don't you know that your troubles are mine? I must tell you then how very, very much I love you. When I first saw you that night at Monte Carlo you fulfilled all my dreams and all my desires. At last I had found you only to learn that you belonged to another." For a moment he was lost in reminiscence, "but that didn't keep me from caring. I tried to erase you from my life. God knows I did, Sallie, but I couldn't I couldn't! I decided I would rather be in love with you and never possess you than to have, perhaps, the whole affection of any other woman. I would be satisfied with expressing my love for you in my music," his dark eyes burned with emotion. "I would go along, like Dante with my ideal ever before me, and like Beatrice, you would be my guiding star—my inspiration!"

"Oh, Barry, you must not say these things, don't you know that you shouldn't?" I interrupted for I was strangely alarmed at his ardent wooing.

"I know. You still think that you are in love with Curtiss. You told me how you felt toward him, in no uncertain words in Paris, and I had resolved never to speak of my love for you again, Sallie, but after Ellie told me what she did I couldn't help but think that he had forfeited your admiration. It seems to me that it is now a question to be settled between you and me—not as Curtiss Wright's wife—but as a woman free to choose her future, unhampered by any bonds of matrimony."

I avoided his intense gaze and fastened my attention on my cup and saucer. "But he's still my husband," I demurred when I felt that he was waiting for an answer.

"That hasn't anything much to do with the subject," he startled me by saying. "Just because you took part in a ceremony which was instituted in the beginning to protect the property rights of children, I suppose you think that ties you, irrevocably, to a man regardless of his neglect or whether or not he lives up to his part of the agreement." I gasped at his modern view-point of matrimony because I felt that my marriage vows were very sacred. "In my opinion," he concluded, "he has sacrificed the right to any consideration in the matter."

"But I really don't think things are as bad as they look between him and—"

"The flapper in Birmingham?" he finished for me, "but that isn't the point I'm making. Whether he is infatuated with this girl or not does not of itself create an issue. The fact that he was wounded your feelings and given you cause for unhappiness is what greatly matters. That he fails to cherish and protect your love, as if it were a precious jewel, and that he has ceased to appreciate your beauty and charm are transgressions for which he should never hope to be forgiven! You aren't thinking of ever going back to him are you Sallie?"

"I hadn't thought of doing anything else," I replied frankly "after all the gossip has blown over."

"You can't do it, you can't," he declared with vehement decision, "whatever you decide to do don't permit yourself to even think of reconciliation. Can't you see that he's capable of neglecting you once he'll do it again at the slightest provocation? Oh, I haven't any doubt that he cares for you in his own way," he answered the question in my eyes, "but it isn't sufficient!" he quickly added, "you being you and so absolutely sweet and lovely! You should be married to some one who understands your artistic nature and your sensitive spirit. You cannot exist on husks of his desultory affection, for a temperament such as yours demands unstinted devotion."

I sipped my tea that he might not read my thoughts which flew back to the summer which, for me, had passed so dully, with Curtiss either occupied with his business affairs or surreptitiously meeting Letitia Evans. Grievous thoughts flashed through my mind. Suppose Barry were right in his estimate of Curtiss. He was voicing, in different words Ellie's identical opinion. Could it be possible, I asked myself, that Curtiss meant to live up to his high ideals but couldn't? That after all he possessed frailties of character like so many other husbands? That he was not impeccable? Perhaps mediocre? Could it be possible that he was not faithful? No, no, no, a thousand times, no! Although he had entered into this flirtation with Letitia Evans I knew in my heart of hearts that, if he would, he could still offer some reasonable explanation of his behavior which would restore him to the pedestal which, in spite of everything, he still occupied in my estimation.

With these thoughts of Curtiss tugging at my heart, I suddenly felt that I almost disliked Barry and I knew too, that it was because he had spoken disparagingly of Curtiss.

"I don't think you should criticise him so severely," I flashed up at him. "It isn't ethical." I stammered trying to find the right word, "under the circumstances," I continued, "and certainly most unbecoming!"

I expected him to be embarrassed at my reprimand and felt that he would at least apologize for his outspoken manner.

VOLUME EIGHTEEN

Last week's issue marked the beginning of a new year in the history of the St. Cloud Tribune's existence. Another mile-stone has been passed in our effort to be of service to this community, and we trust that our labors have not been in vain.

"Volume Eighteen" means that for seventeen years we have stood for all of those things that point toward a better and greater St. Cloud. The Tribune has seen this place grow from a pine woods tract to a city of thousands of homes and thousands of happy, contented people.

As St. Cloud has grown, so has the Tribune. We have moved from the old wooden shack with its crowded conditions, to our new and commodious home. Modern machinery has been added to our equipment, and we are fast becoming known the State over as having one of the best and most modern printing offices in the section.

With the starting of a new year, we hope to be of even greater service than has been possible in the past. We pledge our every effort in the upbuilding of the community, the county and the state, and will continue to boost for every progressive movement that will bring contentment and prosperity to our people.

But with all of our efforts to give modern newspaper service to the community, we need the co-operation of every citizen if we are to realize success in its fullest meaning. The Tribune is your paper, and it will be what you make it. With the co-operation of each individual in the community, we can make it the best paper in the State.

ANDREW JACKSON'S WILL WAS ALTERED BECAUSE OF ADOPTED SON'S DEBT

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 14.—The last will and testament of Gen. Andrew Jackson, probated in Davidson county, Tenn., is now on record in the Davidson county courthouse.

A search was made of the old records when an offer came to the state department of history from the East to supply the will to the state archives for a large sum of money.

President Jackson lived and died at his home, the Hermitage, near Nashville and his will was probated in the county of Davidson.

It was dated Hermitage, June 7, 1845, and recorded October 30, 1845. His last will altered a will written September 30, 1833.

"Since executing my will of the 30th of September, 1833", says his last will and testament, "my estate has become greatly involved by my liabilities for the debts of my well beloved and adopted son, which makes it necessary to alter the same."

"First", says the will, "bequeath my body to the dust whence it come and my soul to God who gave it.—hoping for a happy immortality through the atonement of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Savior of the world."

It was requested that his body be buried in a specially-constructed tomb in the garden at the Hermitage beside "my dear departed wife."

The second provision was that all his just debts be paid out of his estate first and the rest of his estate, the Hermitage, revert to his adopted son, Andrew Jackson, Jr. This included all real and personal property.

Bequests of his negro slaves were enumerated and prized memories were left in the care of various of his descendants and personal friends.

His home, the Hermitage, has been preserved as he left it.

Since moving to the new location on Eleventh street, the Just-Right Cleaning Co. has been doing some extensive remodeling and redecorating which was done by Mrs. Hour, who assists her husband, and is some of the most attractive work in the city.

The office rooms are painted a cream color, with panels of attractive scenery and vines and sprays of wild roses.

It will be worth any ones while to call and see this splendid work.

THE JUNK PILE

By "CAP"

It is understood that every time there is a new baby in town the Peoples Bank starts him or her with a savings account. Its a fine idea and the savings can't start too early in life, but have the powers that be in the Peoples Bank considered the rate with which our population is increasing? Its going to cost somebody some money if present indications amount to anything.

A member of the Lions Lamb Saturday Night Club after watching the people pass last Saturday night exclaimed, "What St. Cloud needs isn't more strangers from out of town but more schools to take care of the natural increase in our own population."

Seats at the Lambs Club are to cost two bits a month from September first, and it is understood that members in good standing will be furnished cushions by the management.

Someone has it in for the Honorary Secretary. Last week he was taken to the Yacht Club and then made to wade ashore, and this week he was dared to jump a small sized canal and landed instead of on the other side, right in the middle of the dumb thing.

He had on white rompers at the time too. That is they were white when he started.

Looks like those Georgia roads were changeable creatures. One crowd will report that they are in fine shape, and that you can go through without trouble, and then the next day will come in a weird tale of hub deep mud and general disaster.

Looks like St. Cloud was a pretty good place to stay in.

Still speaking of mud, they do say that picture made by "Doc" Coleman and the Whaatly boys all immaculate in white clothes trying to pry a recalcitrant Henry out of one of streets the other day was worth seeing and went to demonstrate that one can have plenty of motor thrills right here in the city.

Have you seen the "sunny" room that Brother Wood is installing at the St. Cloud Hotel? They are worth seeing and better yet worth sleeping in.

After that you might think that the Junk Man hadn't paid his bill and was trying to square himself with the management but ain't so. Bill is paid.

But at that one of the best assets that a town can have is a comfortable modern hotel with moderate prices, and that is just what Mr. Wood is giving us.

"Chow" also is important and with "Bill" Foster chauffeuring the cook stove one can live in St. Cloud three days, eat and sleep well and not go broke during the performance.

One extra piece of pie for Chas. Bill, please.

More and more letters of inquiry about St. Cloud at the Chamber of Commerce every day. All finding aside there has been a noticeable increase in the number of people who want advertising matter about the town, and nearly every letter begins "I have heard so many pleasant things about your city that I would like to have more information concerning it," Which goes to show that St. Cloud is well and favorably known. Also which is as it should be.

We heard that the Archery Club had a meet here last week but who won or what happened has not been divulged. Come on through with the low down, boys, what really did happen, and who walked away with the pretty silver plate that was on display in the window?

At the present time the Chamber of Commerce is all littered up with drawings and specifications and contractors and things. One might think that we were going subdividing, but we are not. It's golf course stuff.

A number of the "No Sunshine, No Happiness" Club are busy saying that it can't be done. Maybe so but that is what they told the Wright boys up in Carolina a number of years ago and just consider the flying machine of today.

Wish that some of these boobers would try saying "Let's Try". I'll bet they would sleep better o' nights.

E. Hammond, the able assistant to the works is back on the job. There are so any nice things that could be said about her that we will just let it go by saying that we are glad that she had a good time and gladder yet that she is home.

She don't know the half of it yet, though. You see we are without a janitor, and the canaries do need a woman's care. So there will be plenty to do at the Chamber of Commerce.

Apropos of the golf course, there will be a match with some of the Melbourne bunch along about the middle of the month at Melbourne. And you ought to see the way some of the gang are practicing. Holley Hills looks like it was peopled with St. Cloudites these days.

Just about run out of papers and sure have run out of ideas if you run all them that. Got to quit. See you all next week.

REPORT DELIGHTFUL TEN DAYS TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. A. S. McKay and son, Harry, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Penn, Messrs. Wm. Milas, and Frank H. McConnel spent a very delightful ten days outing at points along the West Coast, leaving St. Cloud Wednesday morning. The party carried with them plenty of fishing tackle and a camping outfit. Mr. A. S. McKay gives the following account of the trip.

Leaving the highway just before entering Ybor City, we traveled over state road No. 5, to Bradenton, arriving at the camp ground before dark. After spending the night there, we drove to Anna Maria Beach, about fifteen miles away, and tried our luck fishing in the salt water off the pier. Owing to the fact that our fishing tackle was not suited to salt water fishing we were not very successful.

We spent the next day viewing the beautiful cities of Sarasota and Venice. In the evening we called at the Tarpon Club House and made arrangements with a guide to take us out in the Gulf the following day for some real fishing.

The weather was ideal and the water very smooth as we started on our fishing trip about eight o'clock in the morning. We were soon satisfied, having made quite a catch.

We continued on our way after the fishing trip passing through some small towns as well as the beautiful and industrious city of Punta Gorda. We arrived at Fort Myers about noon and made our way to the tourist camp. We also visited the city of Palma and a place called Naples, where we discovered the best fishing spot we found on our entire trip. We fished from a pier extending out in the Gulf about a quarter of a mile. Most of the fish caught there were red fish and snapper.

In Arcadia and Wauchula we were very much surprised at the building being done.

One thing we noticed more than any thing else on our trip was the fact that in all the cities and towns the streets were all in good shape and mostly very wide. The lawns were well kept and in many places there were flower beds along the streets and roads.

I am very sorry to say, yet I say it in all truthfulness, that on our whole trip, with the exception of a short distance near Pulaski, we found none of the roads in the condition of the road from Kissimmee to St. Cloud. I have always been a booster for St. Cloud, and I hope I always will be, but after making this trip and noticing the contrast, it made me ashamed, and I wonder how long these conditions are going to last. I hope it will not be long.

With wishes for a speedy clean up in our city, I am still a booster for St. Cloud.

CHRISTIAN TEACHINGS URGED AS CURE FOR EVILS

New York, Aug. 14—The time has come to get rid of "industrial quarks" and to go directly to the "greatest of all doctors on industrial ills, Jesus Christ," in the opinion of Dr. John McDowell, secretary of the Presbyterian board of national missions. In transmitting his annual labor message to Presbyterian ministers throughout the United States for consideration on labor Sunday, Sept. 5, Dr. McDowell said that industry has suffered almost as much as medicine from quacks—from "industrial doctors" treating symptoms and not disease, and urged observance of Christian teachings.

Dr. McDowell, the author of social creed adopted by the Presbyterian general assembly, rose from the ranks of labor, having lost an arm while a breaker boy in a coal mine, and has made a study of industry, socialism, anarchy and communism. In his message he wrote:

"Industry is challenging the church as never before to recognize the seriousness of the moral issues growing out of the industrial process and the industrial conditions of our time. Representatives of capital and of labor and of public affairs are telling us today that our industrial problems can be solved only through the application of religious principles to industry.

"Love and love only will make industry work together for ——; nothing else will; every form of industrial organization based on force or self-ishness has failed. The law of sympathy of consideration of helpful love, should be the law of all human association."

CONDITION OF ROADS BETWEEN SYRACUSE N. Y. AND ST. CLOUD DIAGNOSED

Speaking of roads from St. Cloud to New York State so much can be said one day and before another one passes perhaps, numbers of working crews have changed conditions entirely. It is difficult to give information of value. However, going North, we went via of Lake City to Valdosta, Macon, Asheville, Bristol, Hagerstown, Harrisburg and Elmira and so to Syracuse. The roads from Greenville north were in excellent condition with only two or three detours, which were very good. South of that city because of the dry season the roads were very good, but not much paving. Five weeks later, however, the same good detours, north of Greenville were not good, but passable, and south of Greenville, where all roads are mostly clay, were poor. From Carlisle to Lake City we were advised to go via Sylvester, Moultrie, to Live Oak and Lake City, because detours on the regular route were so bad. This route was not good but passable and scrapers are working to get all roads in good shape since the last long rains.

The route taken coming South was through the following towns: Syracuse to Elmira, N. Y., Harrisburg via Bloomburg, Hagerstown via Chambersburg,—Winchester Stanton, Lexington, Troutville to Salem going around Roanoke, Radford, Pulaski, Abington, Va., to Bristol, Tenn. Asheville, N. C. via Boon Mountain, Greenville, S. C., Anderson, Gray to Macon, (15 miles of poor road), Carlisle to Winnona take right fork from Sylvester, Moultrie, Live Oak, Lake City. All clay road except paving near cities. From Lake City to St. Cloud roads are good.

Words From the Mountains

The Citizen, published at Asheville, N. C., says that "benevolent folks who are expressing sympathy for the state of Florida are advised to save it for some cause which needs it—Florida does not. When Florida needs the crutch of sympathy it will be time for others to proffer it—in the mean time lend it to some cripple."

Keep cool with Coolidge, they said a year ago. But (ed.) voters are frozen almost to death.

Water's Going Down--Fish Are Bitin' --So Leon Lamb Builds Two More Houses For Those Oncoming Tourists

You can't go back of facts. And when these facts happen to be represented in newly built homes, there is no gain saying their right to be considered when one sums up the situation in analyzing the approaching season and its business possibilities in Saint Cloud.

All of which is to say that Leon D. Lamb, who has already built close to 100 homes in this city, has added two more beautiful structures. The latest additions to the Lamb properties are on New York avenue, on a direct road to the lake front and they represent the last word in beauty of line and durable construction, having been built on the well-known Spanish-Plore models, one with green and black rock bound exterior, the other with the seashell rough exterior, so popular throughout Florida.

Summer is a dull season for Jack. He goes fishing—he yawns—he swaps yarns about what happened back in '41 and '46, and if he can't remember back that far, he falls back on Ypres and Belleau Wood.

Fish won't bite so well because it's high water. Bugs get a fresh interest because there is no way to get the water back into its old bed. Sun hits right down from the old solar plexus—but a pretty good sun after all. It rains, it burns, it is summer.

September's here, soon October will push September in the discard. Folks will be feeling the pinch of frost up there where the pumpkin is the favorite fruit and sleighbells ring the angelus—Florida will look mighty good—Saint Cloud will be a mighty fine part of Florida—why?

Because there are plenty of homes—to be bought at a reasonable price and they are the best that money can build. Take those two homes on New York avenue—cedar closets, tile bath, oak floors, shell trimmed fireplaces, big comfortable living rooms and bed rooms, roomy kitchen—everything the housewife looks for first in a home—room and comfort.

They are set apart from the rest of the houses by their beauty. They are homes in every sense of the word.

Plenty of yard, plenty of water, light and modern improvements the kind of homes you would build if you sat down and planned it out with the Misses.

You've got some friends up north who are coming down here this winter looking for just such a home. Tell them about this home building program in Saint Cloud—a program that has attracted the attention of the whole state—no other city the size of Saint Cloud has even dreamed of a program so ambitious—much less put it into effect.

Take a walk out New York avenue next Sunday and see what can be done with a few dollars and good old fashioned horse sense. No fol de rols—no trimmings, but plenty of home for the money.

ONE OF MEN WHO HAVE BUILT CENTRAL FLORIDA

HON. PAT JOHNSTON
Kissimmee, Florida

One of the men who has done a great deal for Central Florida by working hard in his own community is Pat Johnston, present mayor of Kissimmee.

Pat Johnston was born March 4, 1880, in St. Paul, Nebraska, the son of a farmer, who moved to Florida in 1895 to start farming in this new county.

Young Pat, who was then just nine years old, has a vivid recollection of Florida in those early days but still better memories of hearing his father tell of the Florida he encountered in a still earlier visit.

The elder Mr. Johnston had visited Florida about fifteen years before he finally settled here, and he had bought quite a large tract of land. From even those first days when there was no railroad in this part of Florida, when the swamps outnumbered the acreage of tilled land a little farther south, and when all the pioneer conditions of frontier days were honest realities and not just sentimental recollections, Mr. Johnston loved Florida and had confidence in it. To his children his advice was:

"Buy land! Buy land, and then buy more land."

The Johnston family first came in 1895 to live and experienced the aftermath of the big freeze which proved disastrous to many another family.

Had to Learn Florida Farming.

"One of the main difficulties," explained Mr. Pat Johnston, "was that my father started farming in the old-mid-western manner, a method entirely unsuited to this type of country. We were accustomed to the enormous farming tracts of the middle west and the conventional crops. Here we came in contact with new problems calling for different methods and we had to learn a lot from our first mistakes before the new country began to pay.

For example, I can remember that my father, who was fond of handsome horses, brought with him an enormous imported stallion and expected to use him here. The ponies that farmers here were using were entirely different and were more suited to the needs of the life. My father profited by his experience, sold the stallion the best he could and after that learned more and more to accommodate himself to this country."

Educated in Kissimmee.

Young Pat was sent to school in Kissimmee and graduated from the Osceola high school in 1904. He was unable at this time to enter college, so he worked for two years with his father in the fish and wood business and then entered the University of Florida in 1906, the first year that this university was located in Gainesville. It was his intention to take a straight A. B. course, but the failure of his father's health a year later forced him to leave the university after only a year of work.

Nothing daunted he went into partnership with his brother and they fished in the lake at Kissimmee and sold the fish to northern markets and then Mr. Johnston went in for horse trading for a time. He went to Nebraska to buy horses and brought them back to sell and in 1909 went to St. Cloud and opened up a livery and transfer business there. Shortly after this he came to the decision that has guided him ever since, namely, that he really wanted a college education bad enough to sacrifice for it and that he would make the effort.

Enters Law School.

He sold out his livery business and entered the law department of the University of Florida the first year that it was established there and two years later, in 1911, graduated with his degree.

While he was at the university Mr. Johnston engaged in many of the undergraduate activities and was on the football team in the position of a right guard in 1909 and 1910. He was manager of the team the last year he was in school and was business manager of the "Seminole," the University of Florida annual, the last year he was there.

He returned to Kissimmee upon graduation and started his law practice. In 1912, upon the resignation of Mr. Donegan as the clerk of the circuit court, he was appointed to fill the unexpired term, which kept him occupied until January 1, 1913, when he resumed his practice of law. In 1913 Mr. Johnston entered a law partnership with G. P. Garrett, which lasted until April of this year. They started out in the same office in the same building where Mr. Johnston is today, in the bank building in Kissimmee.

Runs for Legislature.

In 1912 Mr. Johnston was a candidate for the legislature on the issue of drainage. That was in the days before the public began to know how important a matter the proper drainage program was to Florida, and he was defeated by a small majority. Today the matters on which Mr. Johnston ran are accepted as a matter of course, though his ideas in 1913 were considered radical.

In 1912 Mr. Johnston married Miss Adalene Donegan and today has a beautiful home and a fine family of attractive children, which he considers one of the really valuable things in life.

Mr. Johnston has engaged in a number of side pursuits. He has been interested in real estate, as a very progressive and farsighted Floridian, and he has bought and sold in a private way most judiciously. He has been very interested in the breeding of pure bred cattle in Florida and it is in this line of work that he has been probably more valuable than in any other. For Pat Johnston is a pioneer in cattle raising and in the better breeding of cattle. He advocated the breeding of good bulls to native cows and in 1919 he won the cup at the state fair in Jacksonville for raising the best Aberdeen Angus herd in the state. He also introduced and perfected the Indian Brahmin stock and was one of the early advocates of this type of cattle, which have in recent years become so well adapted to the climate and qualities of Florida.

Advocated Cattle Dipping.

As an ardent advocate of better breeding conditions, Mr. Johnston assisted in the drafting and in the passage of the first tick eradication bill in the Florida legislature and back in a time when most of the cattlemen were violently opposed to dipping their cattle, Mr. Johnston built his own vats and kept them open for the use of the cattle raisers in Osceola county. He was the first man in Osceola county to build a dipping vat and in all he has built eight in the county. As soon as he had pushed ahead in cattle raising, Mr. Johnston became interested in raising the dairy cattle in Florida. He imported from Wisconsin through the experimental station in Gainesville some calves and built up a good dairy herd with promising results and no losses.

Is Mayor of Kissimmee.

Mr. Johnston has served Kissimmee in a number of ways. At present he is serving most successfully as her mayor and has advocated many progressive reforms. He was first elected a commissioner and was then by his fellow commissioners elected to the head position in the city. He entered city politics on the issue of bulkheading Lake Tohopekaliga at Kissimmee, and he has advocated all sorts of reforms and all types of improvements both in the town's local government and in its beautification.

As attorney for the board of county commissioners for the last six years, Mr. Johnston has handled many things of importance to his county. He has worked steadily to get the state to get the Kissimmee marsh drained along with the Okeechobee drainage district, thus reclaiming much valuable farming land. When Mr. Johnston became mayor the city had built dredges out in the lake and had spent $75,000 out of a $97,000 bond issue without success in dredging, presumably because of the peculiar character of the lake bottom's formation. Mr. Johnston believed that this dredging could still be done and three weeks after his election as mayor they were pumping with the city dredge for less than six cents a square yard, pumping with great success and today they have filled in everything specified in the original bond issue and still have money left.

As a member of the chamber of commerce and of the Kissimmee Kiwanians, Mr. Johnston has been interested in many different progressive measures. He has been a member of the board of governors of the Kiwanis Club for several years.

Believes in City Park.

Mr. Johnston has advocated that out of the bulkheading funds the town should purchase all suitable property for city parkage and as a result of his endeavors the city has purchased from the railroad thirteen acres on the lake front for a wonderful city park.

He has also advocated that all land which is sold under foreclosure proceeding for taxes should be kept by the city for parks, if at all suitable.

As prosecuting attorney for Osceola county for a number of years, Mr. Johnston has been zealous in law enforcement and has cleaned up numerous cases of law breaking. He is a firm advocate of clean amusements and plenty of them for the young people, but he is a strong advocate of law enforcement and under his leadership much good has been done in this line in Kissimmee.—Orlando Reporter-Star.

Independent Party Makes Platform of Principles Upon Which They Stand

We, your committee on drafting platform of principals upon which our claim for the suffrage of the voters of the County are to be solicited at November election, beg to report as follows:

To the Voters of Osceola County:

The Osceola County Non-partisan Organization submits for the consideration of the electorate of the County, the following declaration of principal and policies, with the assurance that our candidates for the several places to be filled in the November election are emphatically pledged to adhere to and carry out if selected to those offices.

That the administration of public affairs of this County as handled by the present board of County Commissioners has been unwise and extravagant is patently obvious to those who are informed, that this condition, aside from the waste and loss to the tax payers, has created a lack of confidence that is operating to the hinderance of the progress and development of the entire County. We denounce this situation, and promises to remedy it by establishing an economical business like administration of public matters.

We especially condemn the attitude of privacy by which the peoples business has been transacted. It is conclusively shown by very recent happenings that this secret proceedure is not conductive to the welfare of the tax payers. As illustrating this one phase, we point to the sale of one million dollars of road bonds, secretly handled by the Board of County Commissioners that has brought an alleged rate, ranging from 90 cents to 95 cents per dollar plus accrued interest. The City of Kissimmee sold $200,000.00 of bonds at 98 cents plus accrued interest per dollar. The County Board of Education sold $150,000.00 of bonds at 100 cents plus accrued interest per dollar with $234.00 premium. The latter two was handled open and above board, where tax payers or citizens were welcome to listen in, all being recently disposed of, shows that invisible government does not operate to the advantage of the people, but quite to the contrary. The press gave report that the engineers stated that the road contract was let at a loss of $175,000.00 to the tax payers this matter was also handled in executive session. It is the avowed intention that this chicaneroys practice be forever eliminated. Our candidates if successful, extend to you an invitation at all times to attend meetings at which your business is being transacted, that you shall be welcome because it is your perfect citizenship rights. The proceedings of the Board of Commissioners will be open to the press, and not suppressed as has been the custom. Invisible government belongs to kingdoms, monarchies and despots long since righteously bombed by democracy.

Our position is emphatically non-partisan. We are concerned that our candidates be honest men, mentally qualified to perform their official duties with a sanctified regard for orderly constituted government, and a desire to efficiently and punctually discharge these sacred operations. We believe that the sinister and selfish clamoring appeal of politicians for party allegiance is incomprehensible and unworthy compared with the real issues of open and efficient government. We believe that nothing has transpired in the past period elapsing since the circulating of a petition to the Governor to relieve those commissioners from official duties, that has in any way ameliorated the need for that request, but that the intervening time has verified the wisdom of that movement, and that efforts of every nature tending to propagate further political aggrandizement will fall on deaf ears. We have confidence in the intelligence and honesty of the majority of the people of Osceola County, and efforts by the old guard to distort for the purpose of deceiving and duping the electorate will only add to the majority for our ticket.

We believe in empowering the County superintendent of roads with authority to employ and discharge those engaged in road construction or maintenance, and hold him accountable for getting value received, discontinuing the present "Pork barrell" system of buying patronage for politicians with the peoples money, which has resulted in controlling nominations in commissioners districts under the present primary law.

We pledge our candidate for state representative will work assiduously for such measures as will be to the best interest of the people of the County and State. We oppose any enactment that will not offer the fullest protection to our game fish. We unhesitatingly announce that to entrust the welfare of this legislation to one who is engaged in their merchandising is a dangerous and unwarranted procedure. Our game fishing is a valuable asset and must be conserved. We recommend that we make sure we have one friendly to this policy.

We favor the enactment of a law that will ban live stock of every kind running at large in the thickly populated districts of the County, particularly in the territory adjacent to St. Cloud and Kissimmee, with a referendum provision that will permit this plan in every vicinity of reasonable area by a majority vote of the free holders. We favor the nominating of County Commissioners by County wide vote. We condemn the present primary law as being incapable of giving the honest expression of the electors. We favor enactment of law that will exclude real estate mortgages for taxation when the interest rate does not exceed 7 per cent, and also exclude building and loan associations mortgages and stock that the present form of double taxation on those least able to pay may be remedied, and also encourage home owning.

We ask your support and co-operation in this movement, we are interested in clean economical and efficient government, which is the only worthy appeal, we are prepared to convince you that you have not been getting that sort of county government. We are going to have something to say to you through the press from time to time, and we want to suggest that you subscribe to either or both the Kissimmee Valley Gazette and the St. Cloud Tribune if you are not now a subscriber. This suggestion we believe compatible with our ideas of letting the public know.

EARLY PRESIDENTS' VIEWS ON PROHIBITION

"Being satisfied from observation and experience, as well as from history and testimony, that ardent spirits, as a drink, are not only needless, but hurtful and that the entire disuse of them would tend to promote the health, the virtue, and the happiness of the community—we hereby express our conviction, that should the citizens of the United States, and especially all young men, discountenance entirely the use of them, they would not only promote their own personal benefit, but the good of our country and the world."

New Lawyers

At the recent examination at Tallahassee before the state board of law examiners 330 men and women appeared, and eighty of them passed, including three of the eight women. One colored man took the tests, but failed. Law students of the University of Florida and Stetson university are admitted to the bar without examination on presentation of their diplomas and if the board is satisfied as to their moral character.

In Bulletin No. 1408 the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture it was stated that flies deposit disease germs in two ways. Watch Elimination!

Good Health Depends Upon Good Elimination.

RETENTION of bodily waste in the blood is called a "toxic condition." This often gives rise to a dull, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. Thousands have learned to assist their kidneys by drinking plenty of pure water and the occasional use of a stimulant diuretic. 50,000 users give Doan's signed endorsement. Ask your neighbor!

Carey ASFALTSLATE SHINGLES Big Size

The Shingle that never curls

THE pleasing effect of homes roofed with the Big Carey Asfaltslate Shingle is due, first, to the attractive red, green or blue-black crushed slate with which the shingles are surfaced; and second, to the shadow effect which is caused by the extra thickness of the butts. They are laid with a five-inch exposure to the weather which prevents over-formality in appearance.

Big Size Carey Asfaltslate Shingles are much heavier and more enduring than so-called standard shingles. They are water-proof, fire-resisting and have important insulating qualities.

Carey Asfaltslate Shingles never curl, or crack, and they cannot fade. They require no upkeep for either painting or repairs.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

SEPTEMBER 5th—11th

If your birthday is this week you are trustworthy, capable, and reliable. You are witty, fond of fun, and generally satisfied and contented—with yourself and the world in general. You are very sensitive, and brood for days over the thoughtlessness of your friends.

You have a splendid mind, and abilities of the highest quality. You are positive, firm and determined. You are rather conservative, and are among those who think the "old days" were better days. You are honest and true, with considerable force of character. You are thorough in everything and take considerable pride in doing everything well. You are faithful to duty in whatever line your lot may run.

Women born during these dates are likely to be found in the front rank of all reform movements. They are born organizers. They become teachers, actresses, musicians, writer, and social workers. Men born during these dates succeed as attorneys, judges, politicians orators, organizers, and preachers.

"All Florida Exposition"

A movement is under way to hold an exposition in New York City this fall to show the people up there the winter advantage of this state. Headquarters have been opened in suite 901, No. 569 Fifth avenue and persons desiring information should write to that address.

QUEEN ESTHER CLASS
SURPRISE TEACHER

On last Friday afternoon the Queen Esther Class of the First Baptist church arranged a surprise at the church for their teacher, Mrs. Clara Burdick. A delicious supper was served, and music and games provided an enjoyable evening.

FAMILY DINNER HONORING FLORIDA GUESTS

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Sutton entertained at a family dinner Sunday in honor of Mr. Frank Wolfe of St. Cloud, Florida and his two grand-daughters, the Misses Clara Batchelder and Zora McKee, of Marcellus, Mich., who are visiting at the home of Mrs. Julia Sutton. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sutton and family, Mrs. Julia Sutton, Miss Lillian Sutton and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Miller and son, Merle. Mr. Wolfe is a brother of Mrs. Julia Sutton and seems to be a hale and hearty gentleman though he has reached the advanced age of eighty-four years. His sister, Mrs. Sutton, of this city, is eighty-eight years of age, and the elderly brother and sister are enjoying a delightful visit together at this time and many pleasant family gatherings are being enjoyed while he and his grand-daughters are here. — Ashland (Neb.) Gazette.

FAREWELL PICNIC

A most delightful picnic was the farewell given Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Penley and daughter, Phyllis at Lake Conway, August 29th. It is with regret that St. Cloud must lose this estimable family. The friends who composed their farewell party, were Mr. and Mrs. Miller Strayer, Mr. and Mrs. O. T. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Long and daughter, Miss Ruby and son, Duane, Mrs. I. E. Diefendorf and daughter, Margaret and son, Russell, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. MacPherson and daughter, Miss Edith, and son, Robert, Mrs. A. E. Diefendorf, Miss Edna Kritz, of Kissimmee, L. B. Hawk, Preston Johnson, Myron Varn and Toby Bass. After a refreshing swim the baskets were opened and the luncheon spread and enjoyed.

YOUNG-STEVENS

The many friends will be interested in the announcement of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Young, of Kenansville, of the marriage of their daughter, Kate Elizabeth to Luther McKinley Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Stevens at 10 o'clock, Sunday morning, September 26, at their residence in Kenansville.

The Rev. Murphy, pastor of the Baptist church at Kenansville, will perform the ceremony.

Miss Young was a student of the St. Cloud High School last year.

PHILATHEA-BARACA CLASS PICNIC

The contest that has been so hotly waged between the boys and girls of the Philthea-Barnes Class of the First Baptist Sunday school came to a close on last Sunday. Although the girls made a game fight the boys fought harder and were the winners by a large majority.

The contest run four Sundays and during that time there were 91 girls and 128 boys attended the class, making a total of 219 attending the class in the four Sundays.

The officers and teacher of the class appreciate the fine work that has been done by each side in getting the young men and women of the city of St. Cloud interested in spending an hour each Sunday morning in Sunday school. The class has made every effort to make the rooms attractive and as comfortable as possible. Electric fans have been placed in the room and every one may leave his coat if he so desires. Visitors and strangers will find a cordial welcome and all young men and women of the city not affiliated with some other class are invited to become members of this class and help us make the class what it should be.

A picnic supper will be served by the young ladies of the class at Sunset Beach on Thursday evening at six o'clock and a general good time will prevail.

FAREWELL DINNER

A farewell dinner was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Bass on North Pennsylvania avenue, in honor of their son, Tobe, and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Crum and son, Richard.

Mr. and Mrs. Crum and son will leave today for a motor trip through Pennsylvania, Washington, D. C., New York and Canada and will return here in the early fall.

Their son, Tobe, will leave in a few days for Gainesville where he will enter the University of Florida.

Those present aside from the immediate families were Miss Ruby Long and Prof. A. J. Geiger.

WATER ON THE BRAIN

Doctor to wife:—"At what kind of a night did Mr. McTavish spend?"

"He seemed a little restless and asked for water several times."

"Hm." Still delirious apparently."

In Confidence by Alice

Readers desiring a personal reply may address Miss Alice, Fla., in care of this newspaper.

A Mexican Indian tribe, in 1909, sold a large tract of land. The purchase price was 100,000 pesos. The Headman refused bills, checks, drafts or "promises to pay"—he demanded U. S. Double Eagles or Mexican pesos. The gold pieces could not be easily had—the pesos were gathered up, packed in boxes and carried hundreds of miles by train, steamer and mule-train. When we finally turned the money to sellers, they carried it up into the mountains of Guerrero and buried it.

Distrust, fear, lack of confidence all but choked the channels of that business deal and made a simple transfer of land a cumbersome, costly affair.

This story is told because some Florida folks today, like those Mexican Indians, do not understand that money isn't value. It's only a handy means for trading oranges for flour. It's a medium of exchange—accepted because on the face of coin or bill, our government has stamped an arbitrary value in which most people have confidence. People accept that bit of stamped metal for a dozen eggs, because they believe that with it they can secure equal value in something they need more than eggs.

The Indians thought they were taking wise precautions when they hid their money. They were not—they were only draining the stream that carries business, making everyone's business sluggish—difficult.

Lots of people here, today, think if they KEEP money, instead of paying with it what they owe, that they too are taking wise precaution. They are only drying up the normal trade stream by taking from it the "currency" which makes business flow freely.

John Doe, the shoe man, delays bill paying—quits buying freely. Presently the shoe factory slows down—labor goes on half time and the farmers who produces hides is without market. Some one says: "Never saw such hard times—no money—no business—must be tariff or politics or climate!"

It isn't—it's lack of confidence.

Today there is more wealth in Florida than ever before—more things to eat and wear and build into shelter and to play with—more than ever before: and there's just as much money. The only one thing that can hurt us is—lack of CONFIDENCE. But there's a wonderful antidote to that: give reason a chance—it will generate confidence—make men dominant—creative—invincible.

Last week a Miami man paid a $20,000 debt. That fact is of interest only because the effect was traced, purposely.

That act of confidence, set in motion a chain of payments that totaled $200,000 in ten days. It took nearly a quarter of a million dollars worth of FEAR out of the hearts of a score of men.

Business is not sordid drudgery—it's a wonderful game in human nature, human motives, thoughts and desires.

The man who deals in BIG BUSINESS—has first dealt in SUPREME CONFIDENCE.

Should Women Work After Marriage?

Dear Miss Flo:—I am married to a man whom I love very much, and we have two wonderful children. My husband is not getting along very well in his work, and it is a struggle for us to make both ends meet. I want to go back into the business world, but my husband objects on the ground that we would drift too far apart. I believe he is even jealous of the fact that I would come in contact with other men. He says that my place is in my home and that he thinks I am very selfish and unfair to even consider leaving my children. As I am a college graduate, and capable of earning a substantial salary, I see no reason why I should deteriorate into a household drudge. But I do want to be fair with my husband and children. What would you advise? V. D.

Your problem is the problem of many women today and is indeed a difficult one to solve.

There are many adjustments by which a woman can successfully combine marriage, motherhood, and a career, and it seems to me, that, since your husband's income is not sufficient for your needs, the best possible arrangement is for you to go back to your outside work. I do not see your husband's right to object. When one partner fails, the other surely is entitled to take up the cause and carry it through to success, if it can be done.

Certainly there are many women who are complete failures at what is called "woman's work," who would succeed wonderfully in the business world where their husbands are total failures. Many times they possess the business acumen and executive ability which their husbands lack, and which is so necessary to success.

But keep in mind always the fact that no matter how much a woman loves her work, she must play fair with her husband and babies. They must come first always. See to it that the woman you select to take your place in the home with your children is competent, cultured, intelligent, and sympathetic—or your children will suffer.

Make up your mind that your most important job is bringing up your children and making your husband happy. Don't slight their best interests no matter what the demands of your career. You will never know any happiness if you do and since you believe your husband is jealous, never give him any reason to doubt your love. While no sensible modern husband objects to his wife keeping a date with her job, if he can't be sure whether it is the job or another man who makes her late for dinner, he can hardly be blamed for feeling that his wife is failing him.

More than in any other marriage, the fifty-fifty marriage must be based on trust. The woman who goes into the business world must be careful to give her husband the old loyalty with the new comradeship. Rather than drift away from each other, they ought to love each other as much as the partners in the old fashioned marriage—and perhaps like each other, and understand each other, better. While it is impossible for a husband to expect the wife with a career to give him the old submissions and sweet dependence, the intelligent, impersonal interest that is her work ought to make her a more companionable wife.

And there is always this: If the plan doesn't work out well for you, your husband, your home, and your children, you can drop the outside job and return to housekeeping.

ETIQUETTE

Dear Miss Flo:—When a gentleman escorts a lady home, and she invites him into the house, may he refuse? Should the gentleman thank the lady for a pleasant time?

Thank you. P. C.

The gentleman does not need accept the lady's invitation unless he wishes to. He may thank her for a pleasant time.

Dear Miss Flo:—At the end of a dance, is it correct for the gentleman to express his pleasure and thank the lady for the dance? What should the lady say in reply? H. W.

It is proper for the gentleman to express pleasure and to thank the lady for the dance. The lady may say in reply, "I am glad you enjoyed it," or, "I also enjoyed it very much."

Dear Miss Flo:—I have called on a young lady several times, and as her birthday is very soon, I am wondering if it would be proper for me to present her with a gift. Please advise me. M. K.

If you so desire, you may present the young lady with candy, flowers, book, or some other small inexpensive gift. However, it is not necessary, as a birthday card will suffice.

Letters to the Editor

Livingston, Tenn.
Editor St. Cloud Tribune:

Dear Sir:—I am up here in Tennessee on a visit and am having a fine time. Came through in a car with Mrs. Reagan and my son, Fred, and found all glad to see us.

They have a fine crops of all kinds all the way up and splendid roads, and many people are asking about Florida. So I am very busy boosting Florida and telling them to come and see, then they can say, like the Queen of Sheba said when she went to see King Solomon, "the half has not been told."

I intend to return soon, as it is Florida for me, and in all of Florida, it is surely St. Cloud for mine.

ST. CLOUD YOUTH WINS DISTINCTION AT G. M. A.

For his excellent work in history, J. P. Steen has been awarded a merit ribbon at Camp Highland Lake, N. C., the summer school camp of the Georgia Military Academy of College Park, Ga., according to Col. J. C. Woodward.

Col. Woodward, who has served continuously as president of G. M. A. for twenty-six years, has, during recent years, held the summer sessions of the academy in the North Carolina mountains near Hendersonville, combining with it a fully equipped summer camp. The students attend classes in the morning and spend the afternoon at sports and recreation, thus combining a wholesome vacation and a summer course under experienced teachers.

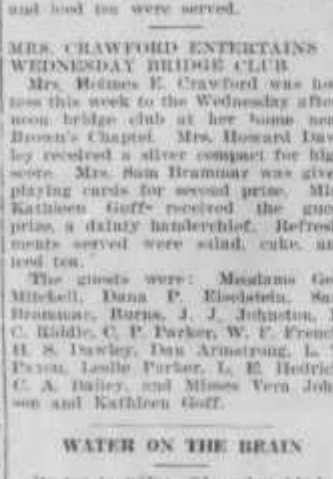

Merit ribbons are awarded those excelling in each branch of camp activity and young Steen took one of these honors.
